Aeon Internet Marketing will guide you through the following discovery, planning and production process. Adhering to this process will ensure a successful outcome. Our process starts with Strategic Analysis.

- Strategic Analysis
- Branding Design
- Information Architecture
- Development Environment
- SEO + Keyword Targeted Content Creation
- Graphic and User Interface Design
- Cross-Browser & Cross-Device Testing
- Website Launch

In the sections on the next page we discuss the different portions of this process.

STRATEGIC ANALYSIS

In this stage, Aeon will work with you to gather as much information as possible about how you believe the company and its services should be presented online in comparison to current acceptable marketing and design practices.

BRANDING DESIGN

Basic branding includes selection of color palette, fonts and logo that properly communicates company personality in a way that looks fresh according to current design standards.

INFORMATION ARCHITECTURE

Users of today are busy and have low attention spans. They require instant gratification and simple instruction. An effective website will immediately provide visitors with a clear understanding of what solutions are offered.

Aeon will work to further define and refine the company website information architecture. Our focus in this phase is to make content easily navigable and user friendly so that users can find information/functions quickly without having to think.

DEVELOPMENT ENVIRONMENT

To facilitate the rapid development and deployment of the website, Aeon will build the new website in our own development environment that can be seen at a temporary URL. Upon completion after the approval of the client, the website will be migrated to the client's server.

CONTENT CREATION

An effective website includes Intelligent and scannable content that appeals to both the search engines and the user. During the design process, content will be written based on the key words or key phrases that we determine to be the most ideal for proper search engine categorization, and adjusted according to design to stimulate user interest in reading and learning more.

GRAPHIC AND USER INTERFACE DESIGN

This stage typically begins after the branding and information architecture design has been finalized. Aeon develops the graphical interface that will represent the company on the web and the mechanisms through which the end user will navigate and interact with the site. We will design a concept of the new website and work with you through rounds of revisions to create a unique and powerful design.

Aeon understands the importance of maintaining a professional and clean look with easy to use navigation. We will focus on developing a website design that uses branded color, font, and layout to stand out more, communicate effectively and ultimately be memorable.

PLEASE NOTE:

It is crucial that the client deliver any creative assets they would like incorporated into the final design, namely high-resolution images, video and text content.

CROSS-BROWSER & CROSS-DEVICE TESTING

Thorough testing is an integral part of Aeon's approach to website development and one of the final phases. We test the sites we develop for major browser compatibility, HTML syntax and CSS validation, and functional operation and accuracy with JavaScript. Each of these test areas enable Aeon to ensure that the sites we develop are bug-free, meet client expectations and fulfill end users' functional and aesthetic needs.

WEBSITE LAUNCH

Once the build and testing of the site is complete, a link will be provided to you for final approval and launch of the new website.

III. ESTIMATED PROJECT COSTS

Aeon submits a proposal of $2,995 for the entire project. For the initial payment, and to get started, I require $1,497.50 upfront, then the remainder after completion. Below is our line-item detail of the estimate for review. These estimates have been developed based on our current understanding of this website design project, and on our experience with past projects of a similar scope. If you require us to write content for you, then it would be $100 extra per page. If the database / library takes longer than expected then it would be $55 per hour for major changes.
